Shaping the Future of Food Safety, Together

Scientists from in and outside Europe are invited to attend a major scientific conference organised by the European Food Safety Authority (EFSA) on the occasion of the World EXPO 2015. The objectives of this conference are to take stock of the challenges and opportunities for risk assessment to contribute to policy development in the sphere of food safety. The conference focuses on two major themes – Assessment Science; and Science, Innovation and Society – and is organised in plenary and breakout sessions.

Scientists and early-career researchers have the opportunity to showcase their work by submitting an abstract for the poster session by 3rd April 2015.

To support the participation of early-career researchers, EFSA is offering to cover the travel and accommodation costs of a selected number of participants as part of its Young Researcher Initiative.

Entry to the conference is free for registered participants. Please note that there are only a limited number of seats available at the conference. EFSA reserves the right to screen applications and prioritise requests to ensure geographical balance and broad participation.
